

Job Title: Freelance Writer/Editor for Vintage Aviation News

Location: Remote

Job Type: Independent Contractor (Part-time, Freelance)

About Us:

Vintage Aviation News is dedicated to preserving and sharing the rich history of aviation. We cover topics ranging from the golden age of flight to military aviation, focusing on historical aircraft, restoration projects, and significant events in aviation history. Our platform engages a passionate audience of aviation enthusiasts, historians, and professionals.

Job Description:

We are seeking a knowledgeable and dynamic Freelance Writer/Editor to join our team. The ideal candidate will have a strong background in journalism or editorial work and a deep interest in vintage and historical aviation. This role is perfect for someone who is already employed full-time but is looking for a side project that aligns with their passion for aviation.

Key Responsibilities:

- Research, write, and edit articles related to vintage and historical aviation, with an emphasis on accuracy and engagement.
- Monitor aviation news and be prepared to write articles on short notice, particularly in response to breaking news.
- Utilize content management systems (CMS) such as WordPress to upload and manage content.
- Actively monitor social media platforms to identify news, stories, and relevant content for article creation.
- Connect with existing contacts to gather news and updates on their ongoing restoration projects.
- Collaborate with the current team of writers to manage story releases, maintain the publishing calendar, and oversee assignments and deadlines.
- Collaborate with the editorial team to ensure consistency in voice and adherence to editorial guidelines.
- Occasionally participate in special projects, such as interviews, feature stories, or event coverage.

Qualifications:

- Strong knowledge or interest in vintage, historical, or military aviation.
- Proven experience in journalism, writing, or editorial roles, with a portfolio of published work.
- Proficiency in using content management systems, particularly WordPress.
- Active and comfortable with social media, including platforms like Twitter (X), Facebook, and Instagram.
- Ability to work independently, meet deadlines, and handle multiple tasks simultaneously.

- Willingness to work as an independent contractor, understanding that no benefits or insurance will be provided.

Compensation:

- Base salary plus performance-based incentives.
- As this is a freelance position, no benefits or insurance will be offered.

How to Apply:

Please submit your resume, a brief cover letter detailing your interest in vintage aviation, and a portfolio of your published work. Include links to any relevant social media accounts you manage or contribute to.
